GAME OF THRONES™

Solteo is the most dangerous
man on Earth...

...a SLAVE with nothing to lose,
fueled only by HATE.

A silhouette photograph of a person riding a horse, facing away from the viewer, looking out over a body of water at a sunset. Another person is seated on a rock in the distance, facing the horizon. The sky is filled with warm orange and yellow hues.

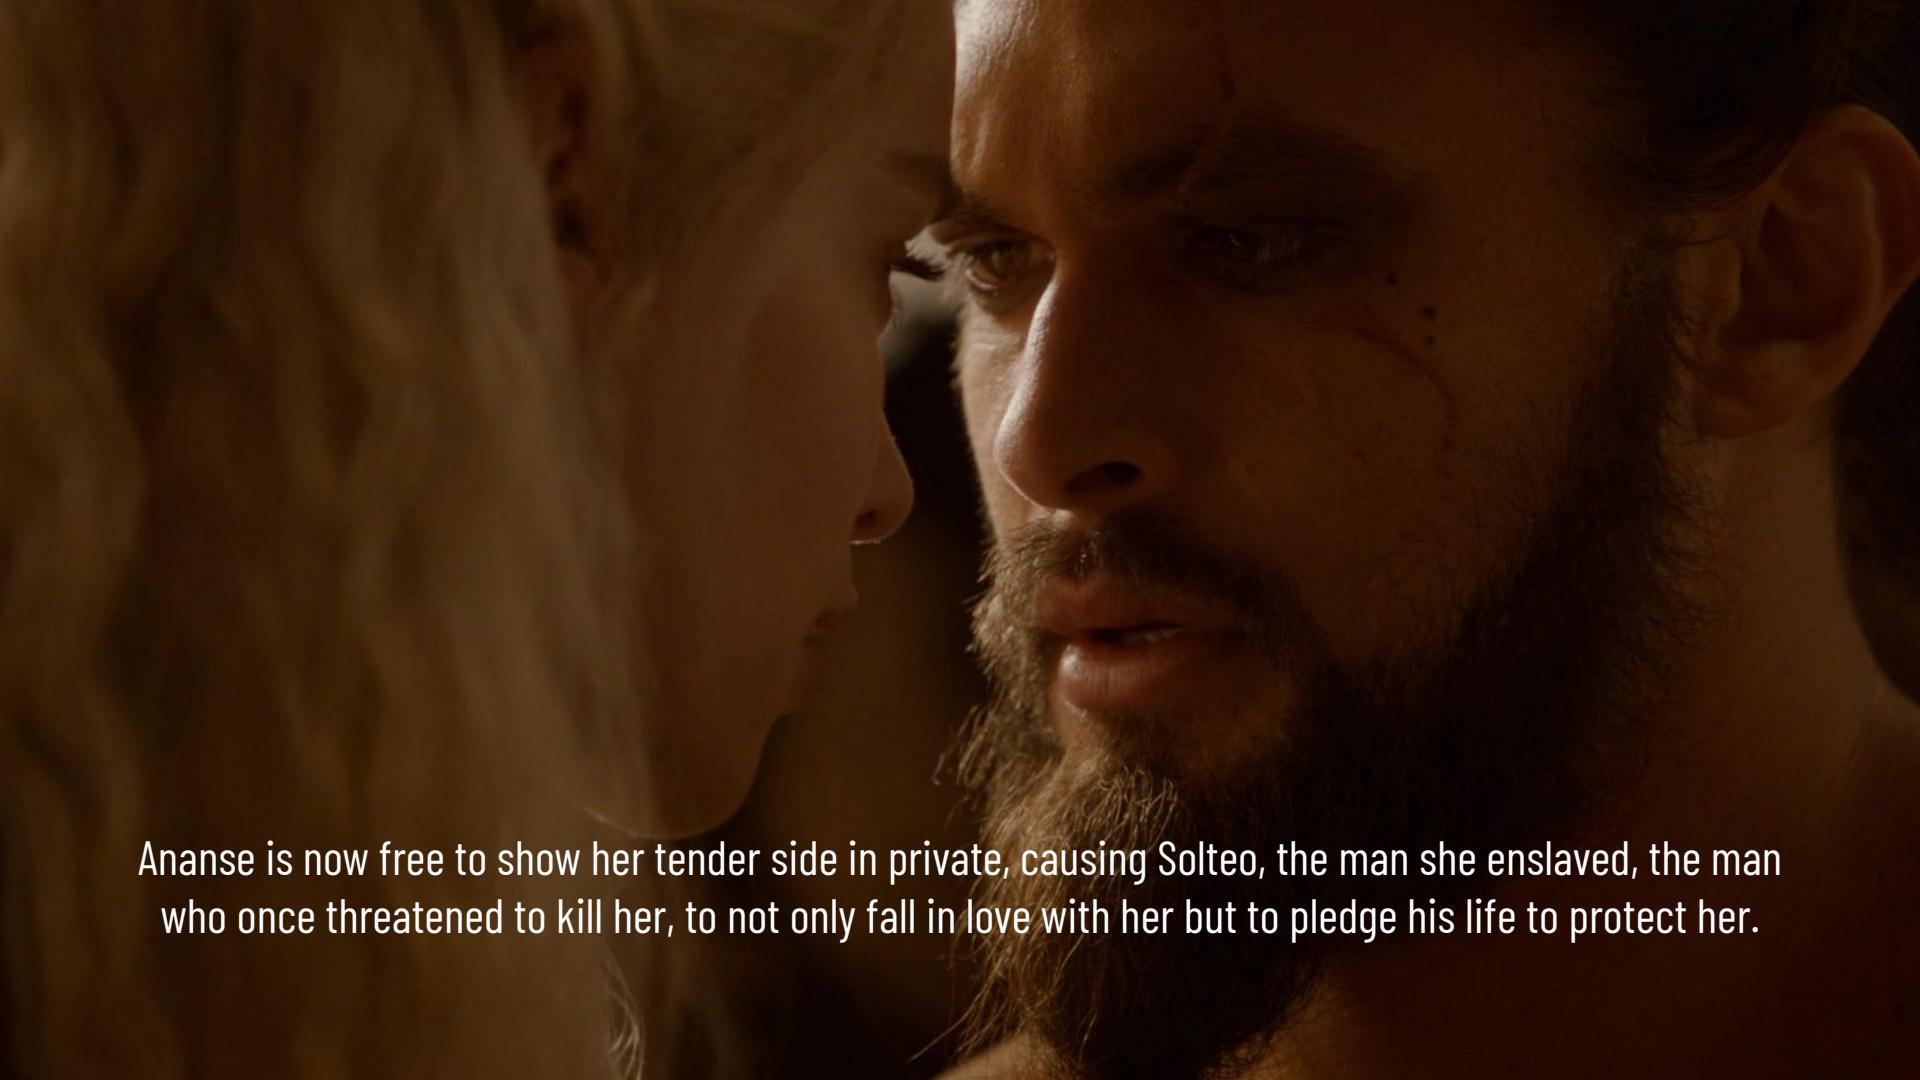

But when he has the opportunity to kill the merciless Slave Merchant, Ananse, he makes a startling discovery...

...She is no longer the vicious tyrant he has come to know. In fact, she has LOST HER MEMORY ENTIRELY!

Ironically, instead of threatening to kill him, she now fears for her own life! If anyone discovers that slave master Ananse has lost her memory, she will be killed. So to save herself, she ropes in Solteo, with this proposal: "Help me uphold my old image, and you'll be freed."

The real person to fear – the person who could kill BOTH of them, is Alecto, the ruler of the land of Pah.

Ananse is now free to show her tender side in private, causing Solteo, the man she enslaved, the man who once threatened to kill her, to not only fall in love with her but to pledge his life to protect her.

Facing an enemy
like Alecto requires
them to be cunning,
hiding their plots
(and their love) from friends and foes
alike!

Only it's all a lie.

Can this strange love endure
this dangerous land of sand and blood?
